Proud Boy Leader Enrique Tarrio was A Police Informant

The Capitol Hill insurrection, the subsequent federal crackdown and the election of Joe Biden have all really shown the true colors of many people on the right. I thought Trump had done that sufficiently, in that everyone in the alt-lite and alt-right become certifiable insane Trump sycophants. But the descent of these cast of characters into even darker realms of anti-reality has been jolted into overdrive by the events of the past few months. It started with Covid, then the “rigged” election; then it switched to armed insurrection, followed by mass arrests and Trump sending in the goons to arrest his own supporters. Keep in mind that everyone who stuck to Trump like toilet paper to a shoe, have been the same people who will lecture others who left Trump’s orange embrace about optics, pragmatism, working from within, lots of winning, draining the swamp, build the wall, and on and on and on.

> Enrique Tarrio, the leader of the Proud Boys extremist group, has a past as an informer for federal and local law enforcement, repeatedly working undercover for investigators after he was arrested in 2012, according to a former prosecutor and a transcript of a 2014 federal court proceeding obtained by Reuters. In the Miami hearing, a federal prosecutor, a Federal Bureau of Investigation agent and Tarrio's own lawyer described his undercover work and said he had helped authorities prosecute more than a dozen people in various cases involving drugs, gambling and human smuggling. There is no evidence Tarrio has cooperated with authorities since 2014. In interviews with Reuters, however, he said that before rallies in various cities, he would let police departments know of the Proud Boys' plans. It is unclear if this was actually the case.

Remember when Milo admitted to working with the feds to take down Richard Spencer? Well, we know who the real grifter and fed is, Richard Spencer. Who by the way, has been marginalized by dissidents in the right and has constantly bucked the trend of Trump cultism. This is not a defense of Spencer, or to indulge in some sort of homosexual pity-party on behalf of all those who reply to him with the same sadistic comments. This about a majority of the alt-lite and alt-right, who have been obsessed with optics, pragmatism and following the law, the yet can't seem to stop descending into even more utter madness. If you are one of the many people who didn't want to or couldn't see the problem with Trump a long time ago, you need to go join TPUSA's stripper party. Because you are not a good and decent person who can learn from your mistakes. You're a baby who can't help but shit your pants and cry your eyes out whenever you are presented with evidence that you are wrong. Milo is a fed, the Proud Boys have been infiltrated, as was AIM and the Trump cult is dead because Trump lost. Time to build something lasting.
